Current adequacy of Bethel's Comp Plan questioned

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel Planning Board members told town selectmen recently that it might be time to take a long, hard look at whether the town's current Comprehensive Plan is adequate for dealing with a level of development pressure that was unforeseen when the plan was adopted, nearly 10 years ago.

At a joint meeting late last month, the planners and selectmen reviewed the current status of development in the town, and discussed possible changes to the ordinances that help guide that growth.

Those ordinances — and their administration — are in turn intended to be guided by the Comprehensive Plan, but Stan Howe, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said some residents have expressed concern that the Planning Board might be losing track of the Comprehensive Plan.

"Are we staying true to our Comprehensive Plan?" Howe asked the planners. "Several people have commented that they think we're not staying true to it."

The primary problem, Cressy argued, is the failure of the plan to adequately address the impacts increased development would have on the town — especially when

More than 400 young cross-country skiers from New England turned out for the weekend festival, which was rated a success despite the lack of natural snow. ## Development forum slated for May

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Near the conclusion of the recent joint meeting of the Board of Selectmen and Planning Board, Al Cressy, chairman of the Planning Board, said he regarded the discussion of the adequacy of Bethel's current Comprehensive Plan as "merely the opening round of a conversation."

The next round may come at a May 9 "development roundtable," sponsored by the Business Advocacy Committee of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

"We're really trying to develop the agenda now," Chamber Executive Director Robin Zinchuk told the two boards. "and we would really appreciate any input from folks on either the Selectboard or the Planning Board about items we need to include."

The forum will include a facilitated work session and panel discussions, Zinchuk said.

It will also look at how other communities in the state are dealing with growth management, including communities that are a little further along in that process than Bethel.

"It's a change-or-die environment out there, but yet we can be proactive in that change," Zinchuk said. "These are

Newry nixes sprinkler, shoreland proposals

By ALISON ALOISIO

Newry voters Monday approved all money articles on the Town Meeting warrant, but rejected two controversial ordinance proposals.

About 80 people turned out for the meeting and passed the articles for the $891,656 municipal budget. They also gave their blessing to taking $125,000 from the town's $1.7 million surplus to reduce taxes.

But it was another story when it came to approving proposed changes to the Life Safety and Shoreland Zoning ordinances.

Fire protection

The Life Safety change called for adding a fire-safety section with the following provisions: require new subdivisions to provide ponds or cisterns, or residential sprinkler systems; require new two-family and multi-family dwellings to have sprinkler systems; require new and newly-converted transient rental units to have sprinkler systems; require all rental units to have sprinkler systems; and require all buildings undergoing a change of use to first be brought into compliance with the NFPA Life Safety Code.

Most of the discussion centered on the subdivision requirement.

West Paris voters quickly agree to everything

By MICHAEL DANIELS

West Paris residents ripped through their annual Town Meeting warrant Saturday at the relatively blazing pace of nearly 25 articles an hour.

In just under three hours (which included a 20-minute lunch break) they dispatched the 71-article warrant, passing every one.

Only one article was close enough to require a hand count.

The article called for the town to accept easements along approximately 720 feet of Church Street, in order to allow for ditching to ease a standing-water problem.

When the hand count was completed, the article passed easily, 35-16.

Included among the approved articles was a ban on so-called "puppy mills" in town.

Voters also agreed to accept the donation from Penley Corp. of a one-acre-plus parcel of land along Route 219 and the Little Androscoggin River.

The narrow parcel has been proposed as the possible site for a town park.

In balloting for town officials, former selectman Wade Rainey was elected unopposed to fill another three-year term on the board.

And David Henderson defeated Jeff Shock 51-18 for a two-year opening on the

Gould's Grahams California bound

By ALISON ALOISIO

They've been part of the Bethel and Gould Academy communities for 22 years. They've raised two children here. Now, as empty nesters, they're about to leave the nest themselves.

"It's as simple as a new adventure," said Will Graham, the associate head for operations at Gould.

Graham recently accepted the position of head of school at the Midland School in Los Olivos, Calif.

"We can explore a whole new area of the country at a time we're free to do it," he said.

Will and his wife, Marguerite, will leave Bethel at the end of this school year.

Before becoming head of operations at Gould, Will taught English and served as director of admissions.

By coincidence, Gould's head of school, Dan Kunkle, served in the head of school position at Midland before coming here.

Graham said Midland sought him out about applying for the job, and only then learned he

HIS FULL HISTORY HERE

To the Editor:

It appears from reading your article regarding former Animal Control Officer Everett Chase that your source(s) failed to provide you with a full disclosure of his employment history for the town of Bethel.

Though it is true that Mr. Chase was in fact terminated as the ACO for the town of Bethel in January 2000 by Town Manager Scott Cole in order to "regain a measure of credibility with townspeople," what is not reported, and may be of interest to your readers is the fact that Mr. Chase was re-hired by the town manager in 2003 to mow the parks and cemeteries for the town of Bethel. Mr. Chase continued in that position as late as last fall and may very well still be currently on the town's payroll in that capacity.

Apparently our town manager is comfortable in feeling that a good way to "regain a measure of credibility with townspeople" is to employ a convicted child molester and a state of Maine registered sex offender to work unsupervised at locations in Bethel such as The Davis Park Children's Playground. Curiously, though maybe not that surprising, that information for your article was not forthcoming from your source(s).

Joy Hart
Bethel

WHO HIRED HIM AND WHY?

To the Editor:

I'm writing to correspond to the write-up in the Lewiston Sun Journal dated Jan. 28, 2006 about Everett Chase. After reading this article and reading the last paragraph about Everett Chase being a child molester, I got thinking and knew I had seen his truck at Davis Park mowing.

Now my questions are why was he mowing knowing he had a record of child molestation? In my thoughts, the park is where many children play, etc.

Who hired him and why? These jobs go out by bid and usually they are low bids that get the job. Maybe you ought to think about the concern of savings dollars is not always the way to go. Maybe you should hire one of the, quote, "idiots and morons from Telstar."

Rick Merrill
Bethel

Scott Cole replies: "The Citizen's editor has asked for an explanation of the town's decision to contract with Everett Chase and his daughter (D & D Property Maintenance) for lawn-mowing services at town facilities over the past several years. After studying the terms of his 1999 criminal conviction and underlying state law, and thereafter consulting with law enforcement officials, I concluded that Mr. Chase's presence at town facilities in the capacity of mowing lawns did not pose a threat to the general public. D & D Property Maintenance provided the town with reliable service at a competitive price, and without harm to the general public."

FOOD DRIVE THANKS

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Bethel Masonic Lodge I would like to thank everyone who donated and supported the food drive for the Bethel Food Pantry. We plan to make this a yearly drive. A special thank you to Brooks Bros Hardware for allowing us to use the store as a collection point. Also a special thank you to Lori McPherson for coordinating the snow volleyball event.

The food pantry provides important support for the community and we are proud to help. Donations can be made anytime at the Town Office.

Thank you.

RESCUE FUND THANKS

To the Editor:

The members of the Woodstock Fire Department would like to give a heartfelt thank you to all those who gave donations to our Cold Water/Ice Rescue Fund. We have purchased and trained on this lifesaving equipment. Now if an emergency of this type ever arises, we will have tools to get the job done safely.

THANKS FOR WELCOMING RODRIGO

To the Editor:

Rodrigo Silva came to Bethel from Brazil the end of August and left the end of January after completing a semester as a senior at Telstar Regional High School. He came from a city of 3 million Portuguese-speaking people to a remote farmhouse. He lived with our family, played soccer, skied, and enjoyed the activities and friendships of our community. Thank you to everyone who welcomed him. He truly enjoyed his time here. He was able to do so much because the whole community shared transportation, beds, and meals. He went to Boston twice. He went to New York City and the Statue of Liberty and Rockefeller Center. He learned to ski, and really enjoyed it. Thank you to Sunday River for his pass and all his peers who offered clothes and equipment. He will always remember his time as an exchange student in the United States.

Our community really made a difference in the life of a 17-year-old young man. We should be proud. Thank you.

'ITALIAN FEAST' THANKS

To the Editor:

The Telstar Football Boosters would like to extend a huge thank you to John Amann for opening up his kitchen and serving an "Italian Feast" at the Gideon Hastings House on Feb. 12, 13, 16, and 18. Many thanks to all of you who came out to support the future football players of SAD44 by attending dinner on one or more of the nights. Together, we were able to raise over $6,600 toward our goal of $70,000.

We also would like to sincerely thank all of our volunteers who helped prepare food, serve customers, wash dishes, etc. They include: Lina Amann, Kate McBrearily, Jerry Greenwell, Tom Dicocco, Jen and Chris Hascall from the Victoria, Carol and Michael Delduca, Courtney Amann, Robin Mills, Jacqueline (Sootie) Brown, Terri Littlehale, Retta Powers, Harry Faulkner, Donna and Corey Howard, Gerald (Broomer) and Alexus Broomhall, Jeb Clarke, Jim and Noah Rose, Doug, Jodie, Danna, Dane, and Drew Wilson, Brenda and Brad Wight, and Tim, Terri and T.J. O'Connor. We apologize if we have left anyone out.

We are now pleased to announce that we have raised approximately $61,000 toward our goal. A "touchdown" is in the near future.

Comp Plan

that development comes at the pace it has in the last several years.

"I feel the ordinances do not do a very good job right now in looking at the big picture," Cressy said. "Whoever wrote the Comprehensive Plan 10 years ago ... did they ever know the numbers we'd be talking about tonight: hundreds of lots, 30 subdivisions in Bethel alone?" (See graphs, below)

"It's time to start thinking about whether the Comprehensive Plan is in tune with today's reality in terms of land use," Cressy said.

The impacts of the emerging patterns of land use, especially residential land use, are manifold, the planners said.

Among the most significant are impacts on town roads, solid waste disposal and fire protection.

But there are also many other areas of less obvious impact, including affordable housing, public access, public infrastructure, code enforcement, downtown parking, police coverage, wetlands, shorelands, deer yards and archeologically sensitive areas.

But in reviewing the potential impact of development applications, Planning Board member Larry Engdahl said, "We look at access to the road system and fire, and that's about it."

Tactical, not strategic

"I think we need to take a look at the way we do planning," Engdahl concluded.

"The Planning Board is sort of a tactical player," he said. "We deal with the letter of the ordinances, and whatever nuances they suggest. Basically it deals with the mechanics of a development, not why it's there."

"What the voters in the town and the Board of Selectmen are part of is the strategic planning," Engdahl said. "That higher level of planning which suggests what the town's direction ought to be."

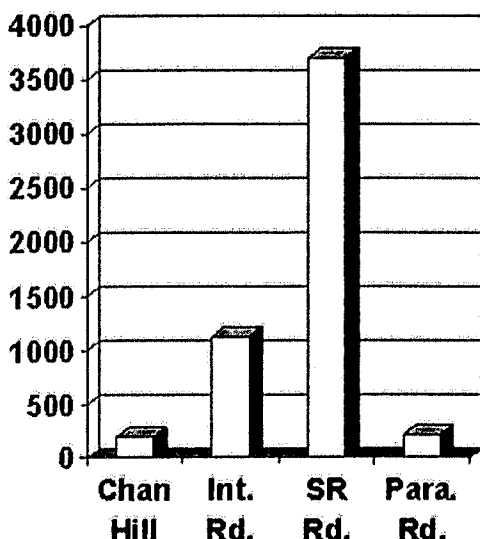

Cumulative Number of Subdivision Lots & Building Permits – Bethel

Note: In the context of this chart, "Subdivision Lots" includes condominium units.

Increase in Vehicle Trips/Day Due to Subdivision Growth during 2002-2005

- Assumption 1: fully built-out subdivisions in both Bethel and Newry
- Assumption 2: 9.57 veh. trips per day per lot (per Inst. Trans. Engineers)
- Top four Town and/or State Aid Roads in terms of # of trips
- SR Rd.: Impacted by Bethel and Newry subdivisions

DEVELOPMENT VISUALS—Graphs prepared by the Bethel Planning Board illustrate the rapid surge in subdivision growth in the past four years, and the impact that growth could have on town services and infrastructure, such as road usage. Note: the increase in vehicle trips per day illustrated in the lower chart is a "worse case" projection, based on fully built-out and occupied subdivisions. That is considered unlikely, but the actual increase in traffic could, in fact, be even larger, since the graph does not take into account other factors driving increases in traffic, such as use of the roads, especially the Sunday River Road, to reach popular recreational destinations.

She said the chamber will also strongly encourage developers and large landowners to take part.

"We think it's important for them to be a part of our community discussion," Zinchuk said. "It will be an absolutely unprecedented event, I believe."

Berlin pulp mill to close

CONCORD, N.H. — Fraser Papers told the state Tuesday it plans to close its Berlin pulp mill on May 6, leaving workers without jobs. The company said the Gorham paper plant will stay open. Gov. John Lynch pledged all available state support for the workers and their communities. The Berlin plant closing comes on the heels of the Groveton Paper Board Co. of Northumberland closing its plant, leaving more than 100 people jobless. "I know how extremely difficult this closure will be for the employees of the plant, the city of Berlin, and the entire North Country. I pledge that the state will do everything possible to assist the employees of the pulp mill and their families," Lynch said.

L'Auberge to host football meal

BETHEL — On March 16 and 17 the L'Auberge Country Inn Bistro will put on a dinner from 5 to 8 p.m. The theme is Saint Patrick's Day, with corned beef and cabbage, a chicken meal, or a fish meal. All meals include appetizer, salad, main meal, and dessert for the cost of $25. The proceeds benefit the Telstar Football Boosters. Call Doron and Sharon Haendel at 824-2774 for reservations.

Selectmen's stipends are low

BETHEL — Town selectmen learned Monday evening that their stipends are among the lowest in the area. Bethel selectmen receive $750 annually, but a survey by Town Manager Scott Cole found other towns in the area pay more, sometimes considerably more. Newry, for example, pays selectmen $5,000 annually, and Cole found the following annual stipends elsewhere in the area: Greenwood, $1,200; Woodstock, $1,700; Hanover, $2,400 (with an additional $1,300 for the chairman); Fryeburg, $2,500; Oxford, $2,000; Norway, $1,400; Rumford $1,300. The selectmen took no action on the finding, and Cole says there appears to be no interest on the board in attempting to raise their stipends.

Former principal's son tackles Everest

DURHAM — If the name Bill Yeo, which appeared in the media recently in connection with a planned ascent of Mt. Everest, sounds familiar in Bethel, there's good reason. The climber's father, of the same name, was the assistant principal of Telstar High School in the early 1970s. Bill Yeo the younger attended Ethel Bisbee Elementary School briefly. The family lived in Bethel from 1971 to 1973, according to Bill's mother, Mary, of Cumberland. His father is no longer living. Yeo, 40, now lives in Durham and works at L.L. Bean in Freeport. He has received much attention in newspapers and on local television because he will attempt a climb of the world's tallest mountain — without using oxygen. He is the second youngest of seven children. Mary Yeo, his mother, said the family started hiking together in the White Mountains when Bill was young.

HEADED FOR NEW MOUNTAINS—Will and Marguerite Graham outside their home on Paradise Road. They will leave Bethel this summer for Will to become head of school at the Midland School in California. In addition to friends, the couple said they will also miss their view of the mountains. They will be headed for a similar locale, however — their new prep school is located in a small town in the mountains. The couple and the school will be a good match, said Dan Kunkle, Gould's head of school who served in that position himself at Midland. "Like Gould, Midland places a strong emphasis on community and values, and that's what Will and Marguerite are all about," he said.

was at Kunkle's current school.

The California prep school, located near Santa Barbara, is smaller than Gould. Midland has about 80 boarding students and 20 faculty members.

Graham will also teach English and coach lacrosse at Midland.

Despite being 3,000 miles away in a very different climate, the school has a familiar feel, the Grahams said.

It's located in a small town in the mountains, and Midland is committed both to academics and to incorporating those mountains into the curriculum.

"It's the West Coast equivalent of Bethel," said Will.

Because of the similarity, they expect to quickly feel at home at Midland.

But it still means leaving behind good friends and good memories.

Will's history with Gould predates 1984, when he came to teach.

His first trip to the school took place when he was a high school student himself, at the Holderness School in New Hampshire. He came with the football team and his coach/English teacher, Bill Clough.

Clough later came to Gould to serve as headmaster for 18 years. Will, after teaching himself at Holderness for six years, followed Clough to Gould.

The couple quickly became involved with the larger Bethel community, largely through the Bread Loaf Writing Program.

The program, for SAD44 teachers, was supported by grant funds from the Bread Loaf School of English at Middlebury College. Up to 30 teachers over six years attended weekly meetings at the Grahams' home to share writing lessons and projects they designed with their students.

"That writing grant was really special," said Will. "It gave us a chance to get to know the town and be part of it."

He also looks back fondly on his participation in the junior class' "trip into the mountains," for a week, during the school's Four Point Program.

Marguerite has been involved in a number of other local projects, including the Mahoosuc Arts Council and Maine Handicapped Skiing. For five years she also served as alumni director at Gould.

Among her best memories: the Rug Rat Ski Program, in which their children, Kate and Angus, were among the first area youngsters to participate.

The program, which taught area elementary school kids to ski after school at Sunday River Ski Resort, was one of the experiences that helped her children grow into happy, successful adults, she said.

"It comes from growing up here," she said.

Marguerite said she will miss her neighborhood on Paradise Road and her involvement with the people of the West Parish Congregational Church.

The couple said they will also miss the mountain view from their house.

But they won't give it up entirely. They plan to keep the house and rent it, and they will come back for visits.

"To have been a part of this town is such a gift," said Marguerite. "We're really blessed."

is also a developer, was one of the most vocal opponents of the plan. He said it would not be fair to potentially require subdivision homes to have sprinkler systems and not other new houses.

"If people's lives in subdivisions are important, so are the lives of others," he said.

Newry voters last year rejected a plan that would have called for all new homes to be sprinkled.

Selectman Jim Largess reviewed the circumstances that had led the Fire Department to propose the requirements.

He said that subdivisions come before the Planning Board, which must then ask for input on fire safety from the Fire Department.

"The Fire Department didn't have anything to go on," said Largess. "So the Planning Board pushed to put something in place."

Out of frustration over early objections that a subdivision-only requirement was discriminatory, said Largess, firefighters expanded the requirement to all homes.

After it was defeated, they returned to the subdivisions proposal.

Largess also reminded voters that ponds or cisterns were also an option.

Firefighter Alan Fleet said many subdivisions are now built on the sides of mountains, requiring a longer response time for the NFD. Homeowners are spending large amounts of money to install fire alarms, he said, but they are worth little if firefighters can't get there in time.

Some voters objected to the cost of installing sprinklers. Chris Anderson said he had obtained an estimate of $20,000 to sprinkler his home.

He said part of his $3-to-$6-per-square-foot estimate stemmed from the distance installers must travel to do the work.

Pat Roma said he thought more research was needed on the issue, and that the town should also wait until the sprinkler industry develops enough in this region to bring the cost down.

Others objected to the requirement that rental units be sprinkled.

The article was eventually defeated.

In other articles involving building, voters approved adding a definition for "two-family dwelling" to the Unified Development Review Ordinance; adjusting the building permit fee schedule; requiring contractors to provide a container for construction debris for projects exceeding $25,000; and requiring exterior electrical shutoffs in all new construction.

Shoreland Zoning

The proposed Shoreland Zoning Ordinance changes included reducing 250-foot buffer zones to 75 feet around forested wetlands, some freshwater wetlands, and the upper section of the Bear River.

Shrinking the zones would reflect current state requirements.

David Berry objected to relaxing the town's restrictions around the Bear River.

"Our two rivers are a huge resource," he said. "We're spending money on erosion control, and now we're reducing what we're protecting."

Townpeople had voted earlier to raise $4,000 to continue an erosion study and mitigation program begun several years ago.

The article was defeated, 31-

20. Among the money articles approved were $75,000 for Highway Capital Improvements, including improvements to the Sunday River/Monkey Brook road intersection; and $65,000 (taken from the Fire Department Capital Reserve Account) to purchase an emergency response unit consisting of a pickup truck, trailer, ATV and a ski and wheel kit for the NFD's rescue sled.

Voters approved taking $125,000 from surplus to reduce taxes. An amendment proposed by Dave Bartlett that would have raised the amount to $250,000 was defeated.

Selectman Wendy Hanscom said the higher figure could cause the mill rate to go down this year, but up significantly the following year unless an equal amount was again approved.

Administrative assistant Loretta Powers said residents should be mindful that Newry's share of school and county expenses can be unpredictable and surplus could be needed to cover those costs.

Selectmen said they recommended a moderate annual drawdown of the surplus in coming years.

Wight said Newry's current mill rate of 8.3 is less than that of Maine's unorganized territories.

In elections for municipal officers, Jim Largess was re-elected selectman, Bonnie Largess was elected to finish the two-year School Board term of Kathi Schandelmeyer, and Alan Fleet was re-elected constable and dog officer.

All ran unopposed. The meeting was moderated by Les Otten.

Next steps

Selectmen met Tuesday, and their discussion included the two defeated ordinance changes.

Powers said they determined that the existing Shoreland Zoning Ordinance does not match the town's shoreland maps, and that the maps should be changed to reflect the ordinance.

They also discussed dropping the rental unit portion of the sprinkler ordinance proposal and possibly putting it before voters again at some point in the future, Powers said.

The board also appointed Anita Clark as deputy treasurer. She currently serves as deputy clerk, tax collector and registrar.

board.

Henderson will fill out the term of Wayne Theofrastou, who resigned for health reasons.

The municipal budget approved by voters Saturday totaled $876,937 (the figure does not include school and county levies).

Voters also opted to take $371,000 from various fees and funds in order to hold down the tax rate.

Turnout was light this year, with approximately 120 people showing up — about two-thirds of normal.

And roughly half of those who did come to the meeting left before it was over.

A Woodturning meeting was held Wednesday, March 8, at the wood shop of Dirigo High School, Dixfield. David Lancaster of South China demonstrated turning a bowl. He started the Maine Woodturners and does unusual work.

Rachel McKnight was an overnight guest of Bob and Ginny Keniston on Wednesday and attended the Greenwood Historical Society meeting when Cubby Swan told and exhibited his toy making. On Thursday, they attended the Lenten Luncheon and then went to the quilting group at the Bethel Methodist Church in the afternoon.

Nadine Hughes, formerly of Bethel and a 1967 graduate of Gould Academy, has joined CompuPay, Inc., one of the country's leading providers of payroll, tax filing and HR-related services, as vice president of agency services in Miramar, Fla. Hughes, a certified payroll professional, brings over twenty years of payroll industry experience to CompuPay. Previously, she worked as director of tax and compliance for 17 years with Advantage Payroll Services. There she built a tax and compliance group that eventually serviced over 50,000 clients. She will work in CompuPay's corporate office in Miramar where she will be responsible for the design and implementation of a state-of-the-art tax system and operating department.

The World Day of Prayer service was held at Our Lady of Snows Catholic Church on Friday, March 3, with 65 persons attending. Offerings of $208 were collected and mailed to the World Day of Prayer-USA. Those taking part in the worship service included: Rosemary McLean, Rosabelle Tift, Lou Prada, Carolyn Gould, Amy Davis, Maggie Ring, Alice McInnis, Barbara Mahler, Musa Brown, Gerry Shimamura, Angela Haines, Gwyneth Bohr and Susan Herlihy. Ruth Silver played the organ, Kay McMillin served as greeter, and Marie Bartlett headed the luncheon committee. Copies of the "Fellowship of the Least Coin" were distributed as a follow-up to the service. For copies or more information, call Rosabelle Tift at 824-2053.

Oxford Hills Duplicate Bridge winners last Friday were: first, Marta Clements and Dick Allen; second, Paul Barber and Luke Merry; third, Nancy Farmer and Pete Cummings.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

It has been such a mild winter. Most of the inhabitants appreciate it but the lack of snow has really had a negative impact on businesses in the area.

Winter isn't over. There is more to come. High winds persist. Our flag is in tatters. It seems that most of the Northeast is experiencing high winds. Calls from New Jersey and Brunswick, Maine, have kept us posted on this.

The easy access over the snow has made it ideal for deer and coyotes. Sue Nelson discovered a dead deer on her lawn.

A coyote was feasting on it. She tried to shoo it away but the beast wasn't giving up his quality meal for anyone or anything. The deer are very restless and the howling after dark lets us know that the coyotes are not far away. Al Gagnon had one brazenly walk through his barnyard in broad daylight. He also had a lonely fox in its winter coat pass through. The coyote must have smelled the sheep in his barn.

The "Bull Moose" has a new owner. We wish them good luck. It's a very convenient spot with very good parking and good food.

Town Meeting is Thursday, March 9, at 7 p.m. A new slate of officers will be elected. At this time no one has come forward to announce their intentions.

The Town Reports have been distributed to the residents. The report is a fine account of

PEACEFUL CO-EXISTENCE

Newry's annual Town Meeting Monday was a civil affair, extending even to the New York/Boston baseball rivalry. Yankees fan D.J. Deprey sat in front of Red Sox diehard Beth Bean throughout the two-hour meeting, and not a cross word was spoken. Afterward, the two posed with moderator Les Otten, part owner of the Red Sox, as he displayed his 2004 World Series championship ring. Deprey displayed good sportsmanship, commenting only that the Yankees have 26 such rings.

town business. On the cover is a picture of Lower Dam before it was dismantled. There are several other pictures of the dam in the book. Upton received a memento of the dam — one of the wheels that was used to raise and lower the gates. There will be a discussion as to where to place it in town, as a significant souvenir of days gone by. It was a favorite spot to fish in Rapid River for many, many years. It must have been constructed very well to endure all the years of controlling water levels in that area.

Walter and Liz Stanczyk have returned from a Caribbean cruise.

They also attended a ship's reunion of one of Walter's many Navy ships, in Jacksonville, Fla.

Congratulations to Jessica Casey who was on the honor roll for the fifth-grade class at Crescent Park School. "Atta Girl," Jessica.

The Academy Awards Ceremonies are over for another year. I'm sure John Wayne, Roy Rogers and Gene Autrey rolled over in their graves a few times.

The birds must be on vacation because there are only a few visiting the feeders. Walter Stanczyk and Sue Nelson have each found dead redpolls. If any more are found, we will notify Audubon.

The "Bird of the Week" is the redpoll.

Visitors to Upton this week were Eldon and Pat Strickland of Harvard, Mass. and Mike Murphy of Bethel.

The first week of March is now behind us. The best thing about March is that April and May are right behind it. Spring! This March came upon us reasonably quiet without any snowstorm. Maybe it is saving one for the end of the month.

Speaking of snowstorms, we talked to our son Tim, who works at Bretton Woods, and this past weekend the area got 20-plus inches of snow. Since they are really busy this week, it was a good thing.

We heard from our other son, Chris, and he has got an Another reminder goes out to the members of the meeting to be held on March 25 at the Town Hall at 1 p.m. This will include a planning session for the upcoming annual event to be held on June 24. The spring newsletter should also be completed about that time. There is still space to include a couple of small articles if any of the members would still like to contribute.

This week's little bit of Gilead history is again taken from the writing of Emeline V. Heath, who grew up in Gilead. I remember as a child that the hill was a great place to slide, but there was a little more traffic, but not anywhere as much as there is today.

"When I first began attending school, during WWI, the school year was shorter and scheduled so that the worst of the winter weather would be vacation time. After the community Christmas tree at the town hall, there was no more school until the last of March. The children in the village enjoyed sliding on the hill between the railroad track and the 'wire' bridge, skating on the frog pond which extended nearly the entire length of the big field between the village and the river [Androscoggin], skiing wherever they chose to build a makeshift ski jump, and sundry winter activities. There was no auto traffic and very little log-hauling to interfere with sliding. When the road was icy, the sleds would travel a good distance and with luck, hitch on behind a horse sled for the return trip. Nothing today is quite like standing on the runner of a horse sled, holding to a stake on the side of the load, and gliding over a well-trodden road to the tune of a pair of bells and the squeak of the snow. Some of the drivers were not pleased and others enjoyed the company of the kids. My father hauled wood with a pair of oxen until about 1920. When they were headed towards home, it was usually possible to ride on the sled and control them by voice. Oxen did not wear bells. They did have shoes and sometimes in deep snow they would cut their legs so they wore leather guards, laced on the feet just above the hoofs."

Andover

by Melinda Averill

I would like to send a special get well to Deanne Bodemer Rothwell, who has undergone recent surgery in Massachusetts. Deanne and her husband, John, and children live in Bryant Pond, but she grew up in Andover, and her parents and her brother are still living here.

Jane Rich has returned home after spending a week in Florida, visiting with a good friend.

Mike and Peggy-Sue Mills, along with her nephew, Jeff and Cheryl, spent Daytona week in Florida enjoying the weather and going to the races (and of course taking in a trip to Hooters). Everyone had a

Sympathy is extended to the family of Patricia Gill, a former Andover resident, who passed away on Feb. 20. She is survived by her mother, Catherine Gill of Rumford and four brothers, Christopher of Maryland, Dennis of Washington, William of Oklahoma and Thomas of California.

Cody Allen, grandson of Richard Sullivan, and three of his friends, visited him before returning to Norfolk, Va.

Belated February birthday wishes to Lester Richardson, Kathy Richardson Kreiton, Robert Swain, Alys Parsons and Robert Hall (March 1).

A Republican Caucus was held in Andover on Sunday, March 5. The purpose was to allow registered voters who are enrolled in the Republican Party to elect delegates and alternates to the Republican Convention in Augusta on May 5 and 6. They are Bill and Paula Smith, Peggy Madigan, Eda Perkins, Wesley Richardson, George Lozier, Jeff Rainey, David Gray, Joel Young, and Norma Farrington, ballot clerk.

Happy birthday this week to Lauren Gammon on March 12, and Dee-Dee Palmer on the 14th.

Scott Owings is running for School Board in the upcoming elections. Scott and his wife, Lora, moved to Andover in 2003 to settle and raise a family. They came to Andover because of its small, quiet atmosphere and community values.

As a new parent he is interested in seeing that his daughter and all of Andover's children receive the best education possible. He believes in strict fiscal discipline and local control of education, and he feels that the residents of Andover know best how their children should be educated. If elected he will go to the school board to protect Andover's interest.

Andrea Bretz Savitz, president of Andover Service Circle (ASC), has informed me that the Circle plans a fundraising buffet lunch at Andover Town Hall on March 18, the day of Andover's Town Meeting. The lunch will be held on the first floor of Town Hall from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., at a cost of $4 per person. She is suggesting that you bring a hardy appetite, because the plans are calling for a spread of homemade soups, chilies, chowders, stews, breads, muffins and desserts.

Have a nice weekend.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

Last week we did a twist on "If Mohammed won't come to the mountain, bring the mountain to Mohammed." Since the snow wouldn't come to us, we went to the snow up at the Balsams in Dixville Notch, N.H. It was a beautiful but cold and windy day, and we skied up to the warming hut where the whiskey jacks ate out of our hands. Whom should we meet up there but Sue Harvey and her friend Maureen who had the same bright idea we had! After a snack and a short rest, we skied back down to the hotel by a different (easier!) route, had some cocoa, and came back to our barren landscape. Note: if you're over 70, you can ski free at the Balsams.

Continuing with the no-snow theme, the Bill Koch Festival was held here this past weekend. A great deal of credit goes to Mike Cooper, Jeremy Nellis, and others for the amazing job they did in creating a classical loop on Gould's lower athletic field. With borrowed snow guns from Black Mountain and great persistence (and at least one setback when the brook dammed up and overflowed onto the first day's snowmaking), a respectable track was completed to be enjoyed by 350-plus young skiers. Sunday's freestyle races were held at Black Mountain.

Bill Koch, a former Olympic Nordic skier, founded the Bill Koch League to encourage children to participate in the sport. This year it was Bethel Outing Club's turn to host the races, and you can bet there was some gnashing of teeth over the dearth of white stuff. Beth Clarke and all her volunteers were indomitable, however, and the event was a real success in spite of it all.

As many of you know, Maine Handicapped Skiing has been going on for some 21 years and will hold the 21st Anniversary Ski-A-Thon on Saturday, March 18, at Sunday River Ski Resort and Sunday River Inn & Cross Country Ski Center. This is the major fundraiser for the program, which enables disabled people of all ages to participate at no cost in year-round outdoor activities, including downhill skiing and snowboarding, cross-country skiing and snowshoeing, and canoeing and kayaking, among others. If you would like to support the Ski-A-Thon, please contact me or Chris Trefethen. We will be skiing (we hope) on our team, "Nordic Chicks and One Old Rooster."

The West Bethel Children's Center staff was hoping for a break in all the colds and flu after a week's vacation, but, alas, there are still lots of children out with various ailments. This week's major activity involves the creation of a "pretend" grocery store. The children will be able to buy their own groceries and/or act as clerks and managers. Sounds like good practice for the future.

Freda Davis reports also that the staff has completed second semester parent visits. These are sort of in-person report cards, where the progress and growth of each child are discussed in depth.

Ginger Kelly called to update me on the Mahoosuc Land Trust. She was very excited about the huge flock of Bohemian waxwings which was seen at the Land Trust office. There is a crabapple tree there which was full of fruit. The waxwings came in chirping, descended on the tree, Mahoosuc Land Trust will sponsor the next Local Knowledge presentation on March 29 at Bingham Auditorium. The Conovers, who have walked in and out of the Allagash, will tell of their experiences and illustrate their talk with slides. I will keep you posted on further details as the time approaches.

As part of the Mahoosuc Initiative program, there will be a GPS training session on March 15 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Shelburne Town Office in Shelburne, N.H. ## Hanover

by Clem Worcester

The Hanover Planning Board met Wednesday, March 1, at the Town Office. The board met with a property owner who plans to develop the former potato field next to the Town Office on Ferry Road. The board felt it was necessary to determine the elevation of the 100-year floodplain. Also, the board met with a Howard Pond property owner who has plans to build a new house. The board discussed the proposed rule requiring construction projects costing over $25,000 to have a trash bin on site for waste products. The item was tabled for continued discussion at the April 5, meeting.

The Hanover Republicans will caucus today (March 9) at the Ramsey residence at 20 Howard Pond Road. Delegates and alternates will be selected to attend the state convention in Augusta in May. The caucus begins at 7 p.m. Besides organizing for the upcoming elections it is expected that several candidates for state and county office will attend. Paul Ramsey is chairman of the Hanover Republican Town Committee.

The Hanover Select Board will meet March 21, at 5 p.m. at the Town Office.

Last week was kind of quiet, unless you count the wind, which howled to no end making the frigid temperatures seem even colder.

Bryant Pond

by Alice Hoyt

On Thursday, March 9 (today), at the Whitman Memorial Library the guest speaker at 10 a.m. will be a native Mississippian, D.C. Scherer who now lives in Greenwood. She will be speaking on a book for children she just published, "The Cat with the Question Mark Tail." Come welcome her to Maine and learn about her new career in writing. There is no charge and light refreshments will be served.

News from Mrs. Nieberle: For those of you who do not know, Sharon Manjourides has joined the Bangor Savings Bank as an assistant manager of the Rumford branch. Sharon is the daughter of Dick and Louise Kangas and wife of Keith Manjourides. All live in Bryant Pond.

Kim Thurlow and Nancy Cushman have returned from attending the Daytona 500 Nascar race last week.

We saw a moose walking on our pond this past week. I was told it is unusual to see a moose in the middle of the day this time of year.

Patty and Gary Cara have been to Salt Lake City, Utah, to visit their daughter, Sarah, and her husband, Joe, during Patty's school vacation.

The Woodstock Fire Department was able to purchase a new rescue alive sled. The sled can be paddled on water and pushed on ice to rescue a person who has fallen through the ice. Bob Evans, Chief Jeff Inman, Chris Hoyt, Rick Chase and other local firemen practiced using the sled on North Pond. The sled was made possible by private donations. Chief Inman expressed appreciation on behalf of the fire department for the contributions and support.

Victoria Bobbe has been racing in ski races and doing very well. She is a student of Telstar Middle School and the daughter of David and Cynthia Bob-be. Sympathy is extended to the family of Gerald Billings, Jr. Stan Howe will be speaking on the "History of the Grange" at the March 11 Woodstock Historical Society meeting.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m.; morning worship at 10:30 a.m.; choir practice at 5 p.m.; evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. is prayer meeting and Thursday at 9 a.m. is ladies prayer time. Looking ahead: Mission Conference is March 22 through 26.

The Woodstock Extension will meet on Wednesday, March 15, at the Town Annex at 1 p.m. with a tasting party.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Edith Hathaway.

Sympathy and love to our son, Robert Hoyt, whose wife, Gwenn, died last Sunday unexpectedly.

Lake Christopher has been in Woodstock history? Many of the town's most famous residents and major buildings were near the lake years ago. Consider, Mrs. Hayes, Rev. Kinsman, The Ellerys, George Allan England, The Wiskes, and Mrs. Ringling, among the people. Birchmere, Birch Villa, Dreamhome, the Conservation Camp, and the mills were some structures near the lake.

The Historical Society members supply interesting programs and research reports at monthly meetings. Attend and enjoy them yourself. In addition there are delicious refreshments to conclude the evening. Thanks to the officers, committees and members of the society for all their work.

Last Friday, I had another "unusual incident" while cutting wood. I was in the process of sawing down a fairly large hemlock tree with my chainsaw, when something struck my hardhat, knocking it to the ground behind me. After checking to see everything was OK, I discovered the chainsaw had also stopped dead.

I searched all around looking for whatever had landed on my head; no dead limbs or other suspicious objects were in evidence. Then I tried the chainsaw, still in the tree cut. The starter was frozen to the point where I could not pull the starter rope.

I could see nothing obviously wrong with the saw, except that it wouldn't budge. I figured the saw must have thrown a piston rod, or something, to freeze up like that. I also decided that whatever happened to the saw must have knocked my hardhat off. But what?

I got my other chainsaw and finished cutting the tree, figuring to take the "busted" saw to Bob Lowell's Saw Shop on Saturday morning to have him take a look at it.

I was still trying to figure out what knocked my hardhat off. Next day, Bob Lowell took a look at the saw and pulled "real hard" on the starter cord. It moved a little. Encouraging!

Then he took the starter assembly off and immediately found what caused the saw to stop. There was about a foot of a black bootlace wound around the starter reel.

Once that was removed, the saw was fine, but I was still puzzled. I hadn't been wearing boots with black laces, and my "logging jacket" was an old "O-D green" military field jacket whose laces and strings were all O-D green. I couldn't figure out where the black lace had come from — until I got home and checked my logging jacket.

Hanging with the jacket was the black hooded sweatshirt I had been wearing under the jacket, and the hood seam was ripped in a couple places where the black hood string had been yanked loose, apparently knocking my hardhat off. Mystery solved.

I recently got an e-mail from my niece in Idaho with the 2005 "Darwin Award" nominees. At the end of the list was an incident they called "A 5-Star Stupidity Award Winner."

When a man attempted to siphon gasoline from a motor home parked on a Seattle street, he got much more than he bargained for. Police arrived at the scene to find a very sick man curled up next to a motor home near spilled sewage.

A police spokesman said that the man admitted to trying to steal gasoline and plugged his siphon hose into the motor home's sewage tank by mistake.

The owner of the vehicle declined to press charges, saying that it was the best laugh he'd ever had.

We received some sad news this past week. My sister, Dorothy (Dotte) Poland Critser died in a hospital in Arizona.

Dotte lived in Tempe, Ariz.,

and we kept in touch weekly or more. She graduated from Woodstock High School and lived in this area for part of her life. She leaves three children, Gary Critser and wife of California; twins, Greg Critser and Vicki Curry of Tempe; several grandchildren; and many nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her father, Leon L. Poland and her mother, Helen Keith Poland. Dotte leaves a brother, Phelps Poland and wife Joan of West Paris; two sisters, Evelyn Dunn and husband James of Norway and Andrea Wing and husband Richard of South Woodstock; two sisters-in-law, Tommy Poland and Claribel Poland. She was predeceased by a brother, Gerald Poland, who died in WWII in the Battle of the Bulge; a brother, Buster Poland; and another brother, Leon Poland Jr., who was killed in the Vietnam War.

Even though she lived away she was always letting us know about her life. Dotte loved family. I will miss her so much. Services are being held in Arizona this weekend. There will be services held here in South Woodstock in the spring or summer.

Jessie Hart, my granddaughter, came up for a couple of hours with her baby, Landon. He's growing like a week.

Happy birthday to Phil Merrill, who celebrates in March.

Our thoughts go out to the family and friends of Edith Hathaway, who passed away last week.

I purchased the book, "The Way It Was," written by Taisa Koskela. Richard read the whole book and couldn't put it down. He said he enjoyed it very much and it was very interesting. I have yet to read it, but will soon.

D.C. Scherer, a native Mississippian who lives in Greenwood, will be guest speaker at the Woodstock Memorial Library March 9 at 10 a.m. Ms. Scherer has just written a children's book, "The Cat with the Question Mark Tail." Welcome her to Maine and learn about her new career in writing. The program is open to the public. There is no charge. Light refreshments will be served.

Quote of the week: "I've learned that husbands are like fires, they go out when unattended."

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

Waiting at Dr. Mason's last week I admired the area he has for the children, with games and stuffed toys and the beautiful three-sided wall mural just above the area done by Jewel Clark of Bryant Pond. It contains lots of farm animals and a lovely expanse of fields. I have admired this mural before, but this time I asked Dr. Mason who did it. It is a very calming scene.

I stopped at the Recycling Center on Saturday. Usually on my way to Bethel I will drive through and leave my trash, and on my way home stop in again to do the recycling part. Scott Sumner was there both times and was spending the day with the crew. Davy Bennett was also there. He often gets scraps to make his lovely sculptures. This time Davy had some kindling. I, too, was planning to get some, and he took the box he had for himself right out of his truck and put it in my car. Many thanks, Davy. Dave Hart (of the Recycling Center wedding a few years ago) said everything is going well after the notice to users of some new recycling guidelines.

On the day of Karlene Bachelder's birthday, Feb. 24, Polly Mahoney and Kevin Slater had a very pleasant luncheon for her at their home. Gilberte Seeley was there as were Mark and Nandi. Last Friday, Karlene was the recipient of lunch in Bethel at the Chinese Restaurant. Anita Clark, Retta Powers and her granddaughters, Jordan and Payton, Gilberte Seeley and Nancy Wight were in attendance. On Sunday, Karlene and Gilberte dined at the Cinnamon Stick Café in Locke Mills.

Just about every winter since I have lived in North Newry, I have had a stray cat in the area. They always seem happy to get any food I leave out for them. This year is no exception. The cat that appears occasionally is dark in color with spots, but its eyes are very strange. It almost looks like the eyes of Scarlet the Cat, who got lots of publicity a few years ago when she stayed with her kittens during a fire in New York, suffered extensive burns and especially around her eyes before the firemen rescued her. My friend, Susan Kilduff from Salisbury, Mass., brought me a lovely tile that says "Strays Welcome." It has a prominent place on the wall in the kitchen.

News from the Town Office: The Board of Selectmen meets on the first and third Monday of each month. The Planning Board meets on the first and third Wednesday of each month. Their agendas are posted at the Town Office. If you need more information about these meetings you may call the office at 824-3123. I hope all went well at the annual Town Meeting, March 6, at the Bear River Grange Hall.

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb

March has arrived and that brings the season for Town Meetings. This is democracy at its roots. Everyone is entitled to voice his or her opinions and ask questions on the article. West Paris' Town Meeting is on the first Saturday in March at ten a.m. This year there were 71 articles and all were taken up and passed in under three hours. Also, it included a half hour out for lunch. There was discussion on articles of budget for the Fire Department, for roads and recreation and licensing the raising and selling of cats and dogs. There was a fair attendance of 120 citizens.

On Sunday, March 12, the Rev. Peter Panagore, the minister on Channel 6 each morning for daily devotions, will be the speaker at the West Paris Universalist Church at 9 a.m. Jim Burke is organist. A coffee hour follows. All are welcome.

Martha Day died on Feb. 28 at Market Square Health Center in South Paris. She was a member of the West Paris Universalist Church and had served as clerk and treasurer. She worked for many years at Penley's office. She was active in many organizations in the area. She played piano and organ, attended several Elderhostel programs, and enjoyed painting and reading and was always learning. She is survived by her two daughters, Jane Wheeler and Eve Reid, six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. A memorial service was held on Sunday at Andrews Funeral Home.

Buffy is not creating much news this winter for he sleeps most of the time with many trips outside and straight back in during the day.

East Bethel

Feb. 27. On Feb. 23, there was a large family gathering at the Hastings Farm visiting with Florence Hastings.

Charmaine Cote of Farmington, N.H., visited Arlene Harrington on March 4 thru 6.

That's it for news. The weather has been too cold to do much and the ice is unsafe on ponds to go ice fishing. The weather report for Sunday says the temps will be going up this week. Maybe I can chip or scrape the ice off my bottom set of steps.

Everyone have a good week. God Bless the Troops.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

A busy two weeks. I attended the Democratic caucus last week and at tempted to open up the minutes and list the delegates to the State Convention. No such luck. My computer wasn't having any of it. Will try to get them on paper for next week.

The Waterford Town Meeting was very enlightening. Last year was my only other one and I was just there long enough to speak to the Transfer Station business. This year, I got there earlier and stayed until the Transfer Station business was done. It was interesting to say the least. I was sorry to see that the acoustics were such that only the front rows could hear and be heard. In any case, most of the warrants passed. Only Articles 30 and 35 failed and that was because they were either not recommended or not needed. The PTO did a great job of feeding the crowd. There was something for everyone to eat.

Articles 42 through 45 dealt with the Transfer Station and they all passed. Article 44 sets fees for the dumping of demolition debris. Copies are available at the Town Office. A voucher system will be used and that is being worked on as we speak. It goes into effect May 1, 2006.

The land use articles took the most time and were suc-

Norm Rust was elected Selectman. Congratulations Norm. Look forward to working with you.

Stoneham's town clerk, Midge Silvio, survived a challenge at their Town Meeting. Congratulations, Midge. There is a community super at the Wilkins House on March 16. Bring a dish to share. It is hosted by James and Caren Long.

That is all for now. Have a great week. It is supposed to be warmer and sunnier and hopefully less windy.

From the Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats have set a new high total for turnout at caucus meetings in a non-presidential year, with close to 200 attendees at 35 caucuses held on Sunday, Feb. 26.

County chairperson Cathy Newell of Greenwood has received confirmation of 150 attendees to date and estimates that the remaining towns will account for approximately 50 more.

"This was certainly an improvement over 2002 and reflects the efforts to establish active Democratic organizations in all Oxford County municipalities," Newell stated.

Many towns, including Norway, Lovell, Waterford, and Albany, made a special effort to contact Democrats ahead of the caucus date and were rewarded with excellent attendance.

At all meetings, delegates to the 2006 Democratic Convention were elected. The convention will be held on June 2 and 3 in Augusta with U.S. Senator Russ Feingold as keynote speaker.

Candidates for county and legislative office spoke at many caucuses, and nominating petitions were circulated for Governor John Baldacci, Congressman Mike Michaud, as well as for U.S. Senate candidates Jean Hay Bright and Eric Mehnert as well as for local races.

Contributions for Keep ME Warm, the heating assistance fund established by Gov. Baldacci, were received at all caucuses.

The Oxford County Democratic Committee welcomes participation from all interested in electing Democrats in 2006 and beyond.

Anyone interested may visit the website at www.oxforddems.org or call Cathy Newell at 875-2116.

From the Oxford County Republicans

Brent Bowen, a senior at Lewiston High School and a member of the school's Teenage Republicans, will be the featured speaker at the March 14 monthly meeting of the Oxford County Republicans. Bowen will discuss his record of Republican activism at Lewiston High and the role teenage Republicans will play in the elections this fall. The meeting will be held at the Unitarian Universalist Church in West Paris Village, beginning with a 5:30 p.m. social hour, 6:30 p.m. dinner followed by the speaker and business meeting. All area Republicans are cordially invited to attend.

One of the reports for the meeting will be on last month's Lincoln Day Dinner, which attracted over 140 county Republicans at the Four Seasons in South Paris. Ray Richardson, WLOB political radio personality, was the featured speaker, urging Republicans to take back the state of Maine this fall with a Republican Legislature and Republican governor to set a new course for the state.

Maine has become a tax "hell" under thirty years of Democratic control and if the state is to survive, it must have new leadership and a new direction. Republican gubernatorial candidates state Senators Peter Mills and Chandler Woodcock were present and were recognized. Oxford County Republican Vice Chair Joan Putnam made a special presentation in honor of Penny Tucker of the Hannibal Hamlin Women's Republican Club for her long record of service to the party. An auction and raffles raised funds for the County Committee for this fall's campaign. Representatives of U.S. Senators Olympia Snowe and Susan Collins were also present with greetings from Maine's two members of the Senate.

Meet The McDades!

Take a band from Edmonton consisting of two brothers and a sister who grew up playing music together, add to the mix two very eclectic musicians from Montreal, and you have a truly Canadian band, the McDades! On Wednesday, March 22 the McDades will be performing at 7:30 PM in Bingham Hall on the Gould Academy campus in Bethel.

On an average evening their audience will experience everything from modern bluegrass sounds reminiscent of Nickel Creek or Allison Krauss to Tuvan Throat singing! The arrangements will move from bowed bass and violin parts that remind you of George Martin's Beatle Productions to horn improvisations in the style of Oregon or the Paul Winter Consort. Percussion sounds range from frame drums to sounds more modern, much like the sounds that come from David Lindley's sidekick, Wally Ingram.

Tickets for the concert are $6 for adults and $4 for students and are available at the door on the night of the show. FMI please call 207 824-3575.

Tickets: $25 per person available at Wonderland Bookstore, Gorham; Hall of Greetings and Gills Florist Shop, Main Street, Berlin; and the Arts Center office (603-752-1028).

From the Bethel Water District

As the Bethel Water District completed a challenging 2005, the Maine Department of Health and Human Services confirmed that their annual watershed inspection found the BWD "is doing an excellent job of providing safe drinking water" and that, once again, the inspection "did not indicate areas for improvement."

Review of the inspection by the Division of Health Engineering's Jennifer Hitchcock, verified that the review covered the seven items required by the Drinking Water Program. Verified are: the effectiveness of the watershed control program; physical condition and security of the source water intake; reliability of the disinfection process equipment; physical evaluation of the disinfection equipment; operating procedures review audit of testing, reporting and efficacy of disinfection procedures; and discovery of any improvements needed in practice, process, infrastructure or reporting.

The December review cited logging in the watershed to maintain the health of the forest and prevent forest fires, intake inspections, automated controls on disinfection equipment, and effective operating procedures in confirming compliance with the requirements to avoid filtration.

A complete copy of the report PWSID 90160 is available from the Water District. You may contact Mike Broderick, treasurer, Bethel Water District, at 824-2342.

From the Mundt-Allen Post

The American Legion Mundt-Allen Post 81 of Bethel will hold its annual oyster stew supper on March 14 at 6:30 pm. Those attending will be asked to make a $5 donation per person to help defray the costs of the meal and to bring a salad to share.

Following dinner, Avery Angevine will present a documentary video about the first Allied crossing of the Rhine River in the spring of 1945. He will also share some of his personal experiences as one of the first troops to cross.

From Western Mountains Senior College

Bonnie Pooley and Mac Davis will describe what it's like to plan and lead canoe trips in Maine's beautiful remote lakes at the final program in the popular Intrepid Trekkers Travel Series presented by Western Mountains Senior College. The program will be held on Sunday, March 12, at 2 p.m. in West Parish Congregational Church, Garland Chapel, Church Street, Bethel.

The first two programs of this informal travel series took their audiences through exciting adventures. Wendy Iseman's program on Feb. 12 gave her audience an insider's view of the moors and rock walls of Yorkshire, England. On Feb. 26, Dean and Priscella

Walker with Walter and Beth Brough entertained their audience with an informative look at the beauty of the Alps in their visit to Switzerland conducted through Untours. Audiences are encouraging senior college to continue the series next year.

As with the first two programs, the final program is free to senior college members. Donations are accepted from nonmembers unless they join at the event. For more information, call J. Cressy at 824-0508.

From Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Enrollments in the Bethel Historical Society's 2006 Winter/Spring course, "Maine in the Civil War," which will commence on March 16 at the society's Regional History Center in the Dr. Moses Mason House Meeting Room, beginning at 7:30 p.m., continue to come in at a steady pace. Three other sessions (March 30, April 13, 27) plus a tour of Civil War veterans' resting places in Bethel cemeteries, led by Stanley R. Howe, executive director of the Bethel Historical Society, will also be offered. Howe will also conduct the course sessions. The course fee for nonmembers will be $20 and $15 for members.

The text for the course will be "A Distant War Comes Home: Maine in the Civil War Era." The book is regularly $14.95 plus tax in the shop, but will be offered to course participants for $10 (including tax).

The course, designed to emphasize little-known aspects of this tragic war's effect on Maine and the state's contribution to it, is open to all interested persons. Please call the society office at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910 to register. One can also register online by sending an e-mail to info@bethelhistorical.org.

Grant Received
Allen Cressy, president and chair of the Board of Trustees, announced this week that the society had received a $3,000 grant from the Morton-Kelly Charitable Trust of Portland, Maine, to support a student intern program and the creation of a junior historical organization within the society.

"We are very pleased with this development," Cressy said in announcing the grant. "It will allow the society to strengthen its role in attracting younger people and encourage them to be more active in the study and appreciation of local and regional history," he added.

A newly reorganized Education Committee will soon be developing guidelines and programming opportunities for students 10 through 18. A high school student intern program is also expected to be in place by the summer.

These enhanced educational components build on years of historical education opportunities offered by the society since 1974 for all ages, including courses, walking tours, classroom presentations, lectures, workshops, essay contests and more.

Tales for the journey: A life lesson from snow

BY KEVIN PENNELL

Snow seems sparse this year, but take a minute and think about the extraordinary beauty of pure white snow. Fresh snow glistens like a thousand jewels scattered over a landscape. Even moonlit nights usher beauty in to an otherwise gray evening. The list of potential activities expand with each fresh snowfall. For me, something about a white blanket stretching over the countryside manifests thoughts of purity, untouched beauty, and cleansing.

Nature makes way for new life through winter's time for purification and cleansing. She makes these changes to create new life. Some of us may earnestly desire to improve our lives which means, like winter, we need to change.

Similar to winter, we can create new life through personal cleansing and purification, by getting rid of old habits and old ways of life. We desire to unveil our inner beauty, as the snow shows its beauty, all pure and glistening. Thought patterns shift toward change, changes to improve ourselves through perhaps weight loss or initiating an exercise program. Conscious decisions enter our thoughts about becoming better human beings through, loving, helping, sharing, and giving to others, thinking more about others and less of ourselves. Like nature, we need to continue our growth. We can better ourselves periodically through purification and cleansing from old ways to new ones. Sometimes, however, our desires to change give way to a return to the familiar.

When we decide to change, keep this thought in mind. It is always easier and takes less effort to return to the familiar than it is to continue on our journey toward change. Changing the way we do things and changing the way we think often include venturing down new paths into unfamiliar territory. We are unfamiliar with the new path. The outcome is unknown. When old lifestyles or old ways are shed and replaced by new ones, fear may enter, a fear of the unknown. The desire to return to the familiar becomes strong because it stops the fear. A normal course of action encourages us to return to the familiar rather than change, but consider nature.

When spring returns, new seeds don't quit. At the very least, they attempt to grow without thoughts of potential obstacles. As the tree sprouts new shoots, it doesn't ponder if it's going to continue its growth or not. It simply grows. If it comes to an obstacle, it simply sprouts another root or grows around the obstacle.

As we look at the snow and feel the frigid temperatures surround us, think of the lessons we can learn. Consider how it cleanses and purifies our surroundings. Then, consider how we can continue our personal pathways of cleansing and purification to improve our lives. What would spring be like without winter's cleansing and purification? A dear friend of mine used to often say, "Change is good." Change may be difficult at times, but the radiant rewards of unveiled inner beauty outweigh perceived difficulties.

Before Buying a Home!

Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what you would like in your new home. Your list could include schools, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2-story family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.

An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize into, must have, should have, and would be nice to have. By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU DON'T LIEN ON MY HOUSE!

Occasionally homeowners who are trying to sell their home are surprised to learn that their title is encumbered by a lien. There are several types of liens; the most common are mechanic or contractor's liens.

In order to be cleared, the lien (or debt) must be paid. If the owner prefers to challenge the lien, he can release it by posting a bond, pending adjudication.

In some types of liens, a title search may disclose claims against the property by an ex-spouse or long-ago heir of a former owner. A simple "quitclaim" deed may be used in these cases. By signing the deed, the person involved signs over whatever rights he or she might have, without laying any claim to the property.

Most real estate transactions involve at least some minor unresolved issues on the part of either the buyer or the seller. This is where an experienced Realtor can provide solutions to resolve the issues and conclude the sale.

Another Happy Customer!

"When you live out of state and you hire a builder to construct a house hundreds of miles away trust has got to be a huge factor. We hired Francis Dumont of Maine Custom Builders and quite frankly never had to worry. The construction was completed on time without issues and the quality was above expectations." "It is seldom that when you deal with a builder that they actually stand by their work even after the warranty period is over. Francis Dumont of Maine Custom Builders is one of those rare builders!"

DONALD A. JOHNSON
Donald A. Johnson, 71, Emerson Road, Norway, died Sunday evening, Feb. 26, 2006 at St. Mary's Regional Medical Center after a courageous battle with cancer.

He was born in Portland, on Sept. 27, 1934, to T. Alfred Johnson and Cora (Gurney) Johnson. Don was raised in the Norway-Paris area, graduating in 1952 from South Paris High School. After his graduation, he joined the U.S. Navy. He retired from the Navy in 1972, returning to Maine. After his retirement, he was employed by Cullinan Oil Co.; he managed the Mobil station at Poland Corner for several years. He then was employed by SAD 17 as a bus driver for several more years.

He enjoyed every aspect of the outdoors from snowmobiling, hiking, biking, kayaking and gardening, plus working up his woodpile. He climbed many of the mountains in Maine and New Hampshire. He also was an accomplished worker of stained glass and enjoyed bridge club friends.

He is survived by three sons, Russell of Limerick, Timothy of Paris and Thomas of Norway, who was his caregiver during the past few years; a brother, George E. of Cromwell, Conn.; a sister, Janice J. Harrington, formerly of Bethel, of Monroe, Ga.; eight grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by both parents; as well as his elder son, Donald R. of Rhode Island.

Don will be sadly missed by all including his special friends, and of course "Crier."

At his request, there will be no funeral or visitation.

GERALD A. BILLINGS
Gerald A. Billings, 55, of Milton Township, died Feb. 28, 2006 in Rumford.

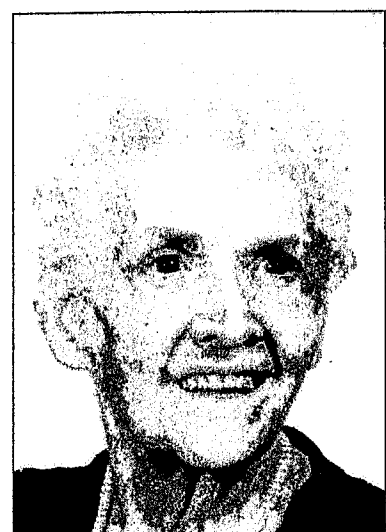

He was born in Rumford on Dec. 5, 1950, the son of Gerald A. Billings Sr. and Irene (Burgess) Billings. He was educated in Rumford schools and graduated from Rumford High School Class of 1969.

Gerald had worked as a farm worker all of his life. He was an avid outdoor person, loved animals and gardening and especially enjoyed visiting and helping his neighbors.

He is survived by his mother, Irene Billings of Milton Township; one brother Reggie Billings and his wife Valerie of Bryant Pond; three sisters, Jennie Fillmore and her husband Ludlow of Bryant Pond, Joyce Pingree and her husband Stanwood of Rumford and Janice Bennett and her husband Danny of Milton; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at the Greenleaf Funeral Home, Bethel, on Saturday, March 4, with Brian Pratt officiating. Burial will be in the Greenleaf Cemetery in Milton in the spring. Memorials in Gerald's memory may be made to the Androscoggin Kidney Center, 1100 Minot Avenue, Auburn, ME 04210.

MARGARET C. BEAN
Margaret Freeland Carter Bean, 94, of 30 County Drive, Laconia, N.H., died at the Belknap County Nursing Home on Tuesday, Feb. 28, 2006.

Mrs. Bean was born on Aug. 7, 1911 in Gorham, N.H., the daughter of Inez J. (Harriman) and Harry Freeland Carter. She was raised in Bethel. She graduated from Gould Academy and attended the Conservatory School of Music in Portland. She lived at Christian Ridge in Wolfeboro, N.H., for 22 years where she was a very active leader in the community functions. She moved to Laconia five years ago.

Mrs. Bean and her late husband owned and operated the Carlton Brook Restaurant, Randolph, N.H., from 1952-1954.

She was an organist and opera singer and retired from her concert career to raise her family. She was an active member of the First Christian Church, Wolfeboro, where she was the choir director, soloist and organist until 1990.

Mrs. Bean loved her family, knitting, baking, the Boston Celtics and cooking. She was a member of Laconia Emblem Club 80.

Survivors include a son, Carter Lary Bean of Newport Center, Vt.; two daughters, Jewel L. (Bean) Warneck of Wappingers Falls, N.Y. and Genevra "Fifi" L. (Bean) Salway of Laconia; eleven grandchildren; fourteen great-grandchildren; and three nieces. She was predeceased by her husband, Albert Nichols Bean, in 1963; by a son, Caleb L. Bean in 1989; by a daughter, Tirzah L. (Bean) Cooney in 1981; and by her two sisters, Helen Carter Champlain and Eleanor Carter.

Calling hours were held on Saturday, March 4, in the Carriage House of the Wilkinson-Beane Funeral Home, Laconia, N.H. There will be no funeral service. In lieu of flowers memorial donations may be made to Community Health & Hospice, Inc., 780 North Main Street, Laconia, NH 03246 or to the Belknap County Nursing Home Activities Fund, 30 County Drive, Laconia, NH 03246. MARTHA S. DAY
Martha S. Day, 93, of West Paris, died at Market Square Health Care Center, South Paris, on Tuesday, Feb. 28, 2006.

She was born in Otisfield on April 9, 1912, the daughter of Eva A. (Thompson) and Arthur V. Smith. She graduated from Norway High School in 1928. After graduation she accepted a job in West Paris in Penley's office and worked in their accounting department until her retirement.

She was a member of the First Universalist Church of West Paris and served in many capacities including clerk and treasurer. She was active in other community organizations: West Paris Public Library as trustee and Friends of the Library, West Paris Historical Society, local meetings of the Democratic Party, Stephens Memorial Hospital Thrift Shop, Western Maine Art Group and Book Discussion Group of Bethel. She was an avid participant in classes for many years through the Elderhostel program.

Her hobbies were playing the piano and later the organ, oil painting, crossword puzzles and reading, both for enjoyment and always to further enrich her knowledge.

She is survived by her two daughters, Jane Wheeler and her husband Harvey, and Eve Reid and her husband Lawrence; five granddaughters; and one grandson and their spouses, Denise and Keith Virgin, Melissa and Alan de Silva, Holly Reid and James Brown, Bethany and Thomas Seridge, Andrew Reid and Kristina Swanson; six great-grandchildren; a sister-in-law, Helvi Smith; and nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her husband, Gerald A. Day in 1973; and her brother Stanley T. Smith.

Memorial visiting hour was held Sunday, March 5, at the Andrews Funeral Home, South Woodstock, with a memorial service following. In lieu of flowers, those who wish may make contributions to the First Universalist Church, P.O. Box 36 West Paris, ME 04289 or to the West Paris Public Library, P.O. Box 307 West Paris, ME 04289.

FREEMAN ELLINGWOOD
Freeman A. Ellingwood, 87, passed away March 4, 2006 at his home in Englewood, Fla.

He was born Sept. 23, 1918, in Andover, the son of Hollis and Grace Ellingwood. He was one of 12 children and graduated from Rangeley High School.

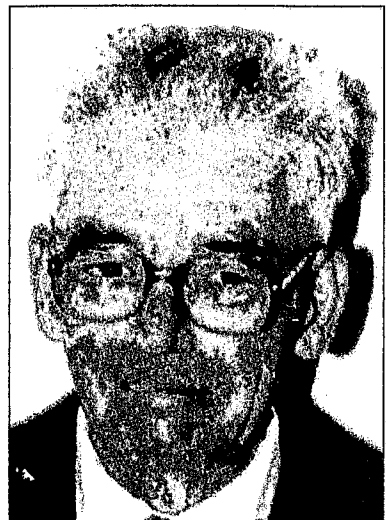

He served in the U.S. Army during World War II in the Pacific area with the 43rd Division. He retired from Boise Cascade paper mill in Rumford after 32-1/2 years of service. He moved to Englewood, Fla., in 1985 with his wife.

While in Englewood he worked part-time for Englewood Florist and Fabulous Flowers for about 10 years. He also worked part-time for Englewood Water District for several years. He was a member and past president of New England Club in Englewood, member of the Mayflower Society, Elizabeth Tilly Colony, the United Methodist Mens Club, Englewood, and he was a member of the Sunbelt Charter of the 43rd Division.

Ellingwood; one brother, Walter of Livermore Falls; two sons, John and wife Gloria of Waterboro, and Thomas and wife Linda of Rumford; one daughter, Constance Roberts of Largo, Fla.; four grandchildren, John Jr. and wife Sandy of Waterboro, Wendy and husband Adam of Waterboro, Tricia and husband Jim of Milton, Vt., and Brie of Englewood; five great-grandchildren, Shawn, Joseph, Cory, Benjamin and Morgan.

Funeral services will be held at the Englewood United Methodist Church, Thursday, March 9, at 2 p.m. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Englewood United Methodist Church, 700 E. Dearborn Street, Englewood FL 34223, or Tidewell Hospice and Palliative Care, 5955 Rand Blvd., Sarasota, FL 34238.

ROBERT H. DAY SR.
Robert Hartson Day Sr., 86, of Woodstock, died March 5, 2006 at his home. He was the son of Ernest and Lura Swett Day.

He was born in Bethel on Nov. 13, 1919, and graduated from Woodstock High School in 1937. He played drums in the High School Band and worked at the mill in Locke Mills before going to the University of Maine at Orono where he played in the ROTC band.

Robert worked as a milk tester, was a member of the Bryant Pond Baptist Church and the Franklin Grange.

He was inducted into the military on March 24, 1942 and served until Oct. 21, 1945, serving two years and eight months in Foreign Service af-

Card of Thanks

A very sincere thank you for the many cards and concerns about my well being while in the hospital and during recovery.

It is gratifying to have so many nice friends.

Sincerely,
Bill Cousins

ter receiving basic training at Fort Eustis, Va. Because of his reserve officer training, he was offered officers training but refused it. He then went to Georgia and was chosen to drive a truck towing a search light for the Army War Show. He showed in Baltimore, Chicago, Omaha, Texas and Georgia with many cities in between. He debarked Feb. 8, 1943 for North Africa, Corsica, France and Germany. He came back on the high point system.

Robert then married Wilma Poland, daughter of Charles and Edith Buck Poland, Sept. 14, 1946. He returned to the University of Maine for his senior year and earned a BS degree in Animal Husbandry.

He worked for a year managing the Sawyer Farm in Greene. He came back to the homestead and went to work in the Oxford Mill. He left the mill and started his own dairy farm. He then became the representative for Eastern States Grain Company. He opened his own farm and garden store, which later became the Agway store in Rumford. After 30 years, he sold the store and retired. The last years of his life were spent enjoying his grandchildren and watching them play sports.

He served on the SAD44 School Board from 1969-1970, 1974 and 1975, serving on several committees.

He is survived by his wife, Wilma; one son, Robert Day Jr.; daughter Kathryn Day Hurd; four grandchildren Kristie Day Hutchins, Andrew Lee Day, Nathan Alan Hurd and Brenda Mae Hurd; three great-grandchildren, Abigail Leigh Hutchins, Brooke Elizabeth Hutchins and Caiden Benjamin Hutchins; and a brother, Leroy Day of Woodstock. He was predeceased by two sisters, Diana Forsyth and Daisy LeClair.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, March 11, at 2 p.m. at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church, with the Rev. Linwood Hanson officiating. Burial will be in the Greenleaf Cemetery, Milton Plantation, in the spring. Anyone who would like to share memories about Robert are encouraged to do so at the funeral service.
